Lights, camera, action! The Hôtel 123 Sébastopol celebrates cinema from the lobby to the upper floors where stars of the silver screen have contributed to the decoration of the spaces. Lovers of cinema are sure to be won over.

A cinematic décor

The lobby has a ticket booth, a popcorn machine and a projection room: the stage is set right here on the ground floor. Upstairs, the spirit of the cinema continues. Each floor bears the name of a personality who has contributed to decorating the space. Jean-Paul Belmondo chose themes from cinema, theatre and boxing that are dear to him, Claude Lelouche chose to play with black and white, Danièle Thompson offered some documents to perfect the souvenir-filled décor, Agnès Jaoui and Jean-Pierre Bacri dressed the walls with images, Elsa Zylberstein evokes dance and Ennio Morricone puts music in the spotlight. In this way, each room is filled with the story of the personality who inspired it for a real trip through the world of cinema. After some visiting, why not enjoy the peacefulness of this hotel, in the lobby/conservatory or on the outside terrace, enjoying a hot drink and little cakes or sweets (open bar). In the evening, you can enjoy a marvellous cocktail, concocted by the resident mixologist. The attentive hotel staff will watch over you with professionalism, rigour and friendliness to ensure that your stay is as successful as possible: comfort, visits, transport, restaurants... they will take care of everything!

Around the hotel

The Hôtel 123 Sébastopol is located in the 2nd arrondissement, at number 123 of the boulevard with the same name. In terms of visits, the hotel is just across the road from the Gaité Lyrique, an artistic space devoted to digital cultures. Right beside it is the Conservatoire des Arts et Métiers, a museum that presents the greatest inventions from the industrial revolution to the present day. A 5 minute walk down Boulevard Sébastopol will lead you to the discovery of the Centre Georges Pompidou and its Modern Art Museum. When it comes to eating out, the choice is vast as every style and type of cooking is represented in the area. The team at the hotel will recommend their favourites. In terms of shopping, a 5 minute walk takes you to the upper Marais and rue de Bretagne, a very lively shopping street. From there, you could also stroll around the Marais and discover its many designer boutiques and art galleries. A 5 minute walk in the opposite direction takes you to the equally lively and very Parisian area of Montorgueil, well-known for its food shops. Our “beautiful” idea: It would be impossible to stay at this hotel without going to a cinema screening. Paris has no shortage of legendary cinemas, and it is worth knowing that the hotel is located quite close to the Grand Rex.
